VICTOR MARTINEZ

ORIGINAL OILS AND WATERCOLORS

International Artist Magazine

You will find Victor's work in the cover of International Artist.
Also, a developing step by step of one of his paintings, with an interview in which he is taking the honor of representing Peru and the Art in South America.
To order the seventh issue, call (760) 796 6540

P. O. Box 3280 . Manhattan Beach, CA 90266 . Phone & Fax (310) 921 9745 . www.victormartinez.com

VICTOR MARTINEZ

ORIGINAL OILS AND WATERCOLORS

Splash 6

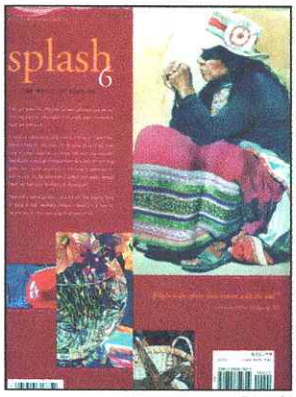

Collagua, Peru - watercolor 29" × 41"

Splash 6 is a hard cover art book that features more than 120 paintings from today's best watercolor artists in the United States. You can contact North Light Books to order the 2000 Edition at (800) 289-0963.

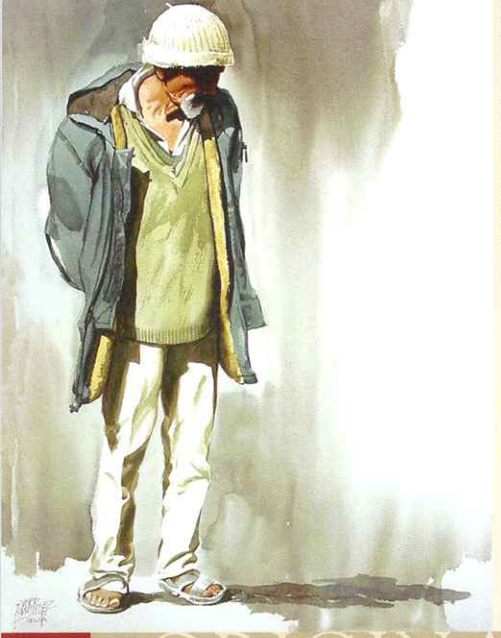

Cover

Back

P. O. Box 3280 . Manhattan Beach, CA 90266 . Phone & Fax (310) 921 9745 . www.victormartinez.com

HOMBRE COLCA, Watercolor on paper 30"×22"

VICTOR MARTINEZ

ORIGINAL OILS AND WATERCOLORS

www.victormartinez.com

LAGUNILLAS, Watercolor on paper 22"×30"

EL TIO PEDRO, Watercolor on paper 30"×22"
ALSO AVAILABLE AS GICLEE, Limited Edition of 200, 30"×22" and 22"×15"

"The images that attract me and constitute the integrity of my work are those linked to man in its daily chores. I paint people who unintentionally resist being absorbed by the huge progress of civilization and who fully exercise their humanity."

Additional Original Work may be viewed at:
www.victormartinez.com/paintings_available_index.htm

Limited Editions Giclée Prints can be seen at:
www.victormartinez.com/limited_edition_giclee.htm

Please contact us with questions at:
(310) 379 2672
info@victormartinez.com

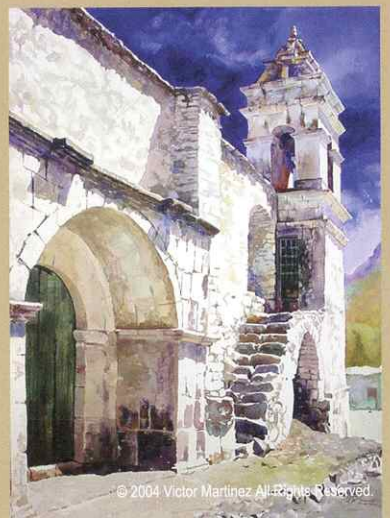

NINA, Watercolor on paper 15"×11"

ROSITA, Watercolor on paper 15"×22"

PARACHIQUE, Watercolor on paper 22"×30"
ALSO AVAILABLE AS GICLEE, Limited Edition of 100, 22"×30" and 15"×22"

CANOCOTA, Watercolor on paper 30"×22"
ALSO AVAILABLE AS GICLEE, Limited Edition of 200, 30"×22" and 22"×15"

© 2004 Victor Martinez All Rights Reserved.

"With trenchant regard for human inflection, locational integrity and tonal detail, Victor Martinez delivers exquisite palatable flavors of authenticity with his subjects. Seizing constitution as his primary focus, his siphoning hand evokes the character of places, personalities and experience; dispositions of climate and circumstance. In realistically presenting a scene, Martinez is able to transmit to the viewer an extended range of what we expect the logic of the eye to perceive.

Son of the renowned South American artist, Victor Martinez Málaga, the young Martinez was able to benefit from his father's instruction between the time of his birth in Peru in 1932 and his formal studies at the Regional School of Fine Arts and the National Academy of 'Fine Arts in Lima.
His work has garnered a number of awards in the United States and South America, and has been featured in numerous art magazines in North America, South America and Australia."
(New Art International).

MADRE COLCA, Watercolor on paper 30×22"
ALSO AVAILABLE AS GICLEE, Limited Edition of 100, 30"×22" and 22"×15"

EN EL CAMINO, Oil on canvas 24×36"
GICLEE, Limited Edition of 100, 24"×36" and 20"×30"

COVER: AMIGAS, Watercolor on paper 30×22"
GICLEE, Limited Edition of 200, 30"×22" and 22"×15"

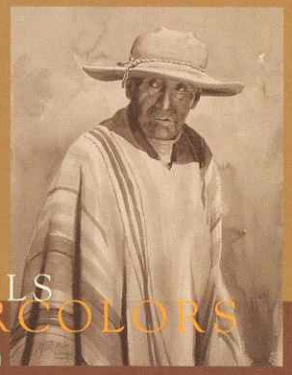

VICTOR MARTINEZ
5934 E Kelton Ln
Scottsdale
Arizona 85254

(480) 626 5598
info@victormartinez.com

www.victormartinez.com

VICTOR MARTINEZ

ORIGINAL OILS
AND WATERCOLORS
www.victormartinez.com

Victor Martinez

Manhattan Beach, CA
www.victormartinez.com • 310.379.2672

CANOCOTA. Watercolor. 30" x 22"

"The images that attract me and constitute the integrity of my work are those which are linked to man in its daily chores, its surrounding and attitudes—people who unintentionally resist being absorbed by the huge progress of civilization and who fully exercise their humanity." Venues: Settler's West Gallery, Celebration of Fine Art.

SOCIETY NEWS ■ DEMONSTRATIONS ■ LANDSCAPES ■ STILL LIFES

WATERCOLOR

AN AMERICAN ARTIST PUBLICATION

Paint Figures From Life & Photos

Base Abstract Images on the Past

Learn to Render Objects Accurately

Edward Hopper's Sun-Filled Landscapes

FALL
1999 ISSUE

$6.95 U.S./$7.95 CAN.

0 71486 02743 0 94

Cover: Woman in Hat With Ribbon, by Jonathan Knight

moved to the United States and began learning the English language.

With the help of his son, Francisco, and his daughter, Juana, Victor Martinez has exhibited his watercolors in a number of important exhibitions, including those organized by the Vail Valley Arts Council in Vail, Colorado; the West Texas Watercolor Society; the American Artists Professional League; the Hollywood Arts Council in Los Angeles; and the Laredo Center for the Arts in Laredo, Texas. Martinez has also been the subject of feature articles in Southwest Art and International Artist magazines. He is represented by The Taos Gallery in Scottsdale, Arizona, Zantman Art Galleries in Carmel, California, and Greenhouse Gallery of Fine Art in San Antonio. Lu Martin Galleries in Laguna Beach, California, will present a solo exhibition of his work November 4 through 29. For further information, visit the artist's Web site at: www.victormartinez.com. ■

Above: Cabana con Limones, 1998, watercolor, 29½ x 41. Private collection. This young Cabana is selling lemons in the village market in Chivay.

Above: Collagua, 1999, watercolor, 30 x 22. Private collection. As a member of the Collaguas tribe, this woman is accustomed to wearing skirts with up to seven layers. Here, she is using the top layer to carry her belongings.

ochre, cobalt blue, Prussian blue, indigo, French ultramarine, cobalt turquoise, sap green, olive green, Winsor green, cobalt green, oxide of chromium, perylene maroon, raw sienna, sepia, burnt sienna, Van Dyke brown, and brown madder.

Martinez prefers to work on heavy sheets of paper that do not require stretching, with his favorites being 300-lb or 555-lb Arches, Fabriano, and Lanaquarelle. His brushes are mostly sables manufactured by Winsor & Newton or Jack Richeson & Company.

Martinez was born in Arequipa, Peru, in 1932 and received his earliest training from his father, the renowned artist Victor Martínez Malága. He studied at a regional school of fine arts and then moved to Lima, where he took advanced courses at the Escuela Nacional Superior de Bellas Artes. Martinez worked as a graphic designer and illustrator until 1987, when he became a full-time professional artist. He er new subject matter," he comments. "Whether it be in the colorful dresses of the women, their children, or in the antiquity of buildings that reflect an environment, I am inspired by the simple life that is rich in humanity.

"The images that attract me and constitute the integrity of my work are those representing people going about their daily chores," he explains. "I focus on the remote, hidden regions within the Arequipa province, in particular the Colca Valley."

As he wanders through Arequipa, Martinez gathers the source material for the larger paintings he creates in his California studio. "The sketches capture my initial impression and suggest the intrinsic beauty that motivated me," he explains. "I make small color notations of each subject and take photographs to ensure I have information about the details within the fabrics, architecture, and faces.

"Back in my studio, I spend a considerable amount of time working on the compositional arrangements of the figures on the paper, because with watercolor I don't want to make major corrections," he continues. "In the traditional manner of building up layers of transparent color, I usually work the background first and then the figure. I reserve the white of the paper for the highlights, which sometimes requires me to use masking agent to hold small shapes and hard edges."

Martinez emphasizes he uses professional grade paints, papers, and brushes to ensure that his work will have permanence. His palette of Winsor & Newton colors includes vermilion hue, bright red, rose madder, permanent rose, Winsor red, ultramarine violet, cobalt violet, cadmium yellow pale, cadmium yellow deep, yellow ochre, cadmium lemon, gold Opposite page: Santa Fe, 1998, watercolor, 30 x 22. Private collection. Martinez found this old character resting in the streets of Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Above: Cajamarca Campesino, 1998, watercolor, 30 x 22. Private collection. This painting shows a farmer from the province of Cajamarca returning home after a day of working in the fields.

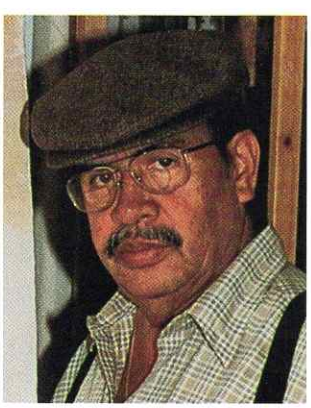

MANY WATERCOLORISTS feel compelled to document the fragile state of subjects with cultural, historical, or environmental significance. Whether focused on the missions in Southern California, jazz musicians in New Orleans, or sailing vessels in Newport, Rhode Island, these artists ask viewers to celebrate and preserve something that has personal significance but is nevertheless part of a shared heritage.

One such artist, Victor Martinez, creates paintings of the residents in his hometown in the Arequipa province in Peru. The aging population maintains the remnants of a culture developed over centuries of isolation and then colonial rule. There is still a simplicity to the way of life, a reverence for religious and social customs, a preference for traditional clothing, and a sense that all of this may be disappearing.

This remote region of the world may not be familiar to most Americans, yet Martinez presents its inhabitants with such passion that viewers of his watercolors instinctively understand his message. He creates the paintings from photographs and sketches made during his frequent visits to Peru. "Each trip is an invitation to discov-

Page 72: Cabana, 1998, watercolor, 30 x 22. Private collection. The woman in this picture is preparing a bulk ("atado") in which to carry a child or some supplies on her back.

Page 73: Colca, Peru, 1996, watercolor, 30 x 22. Private collection. Martinez observed this woman spinning llama's wool as she walked down a street in Cabanaconde in the Colca Valley.

Above, left: Rosita, 1997, watercolor, 15 x 22. Collection the artist. Here, a woman sells items in the Chivay market.

Above: Ayacucho, 1998, watercolor, 22 x 15. Private collection. This woman is wearing a hat that identifies her as a resident of a particular village southeast of Lima, Peru.

Embodiments of a Culture

BY M. STEPHEN DOHERTY

In his watercolors of colorful costumes, agrarian activities, and evocative faces, VICTOR MARTINEZ paints the people of his native Peru as proud representatives of a culture and spirit.

VICTOR MARTINEZ

With trenchant regard for human inflection, locational integrity and tonal detail, Victor Martinez delivers exquisitely palatable flavors of authenticity with his subjects. Seizing constitution as his primary focus, his siphoning hand evokes the character of places, personalities and experience; dispositions of climate and circumstance. In realistically presenting a scene, Martinez is able to transmit to the viewer an extended range of what we expect the logic of the eye to perceive.

Son of the renowned South American artist, Victor Martinez Malaga, the young Martinez was able to benefit from his father's instruction between the time of his birth in Arequipa, Peru in 1932 and his formal studies at the Regional School of Fine Arts Carlos Bacaflor and the National Academy of Fine Arts in Lima. His work has garnered a number of awards in the United States, appearing in exhibition at the Raices in New York City and Washington, D.C.; Van Vechten-Lineberry Art Museum, Taos, New Mexico; Carnegie Art Museum, Oxnard, California; Galeria de Artes Leslie, Mexico City, Mexico; Museo Nacional, Arte Contemporaneo, Lima, Peru, and elsewhere.

Arequipa - Peru 30" x 22" Watercolor

Maca - Colca 30" x 22" Watercolor

"I try to capture the life of people at one with nature, utilizing only what their environment provides, in a world unchanged for centuries. I respectfully recreate their life-styles in landscapes and seascapes, trying to communicate their unique qualities that have so inspired me."

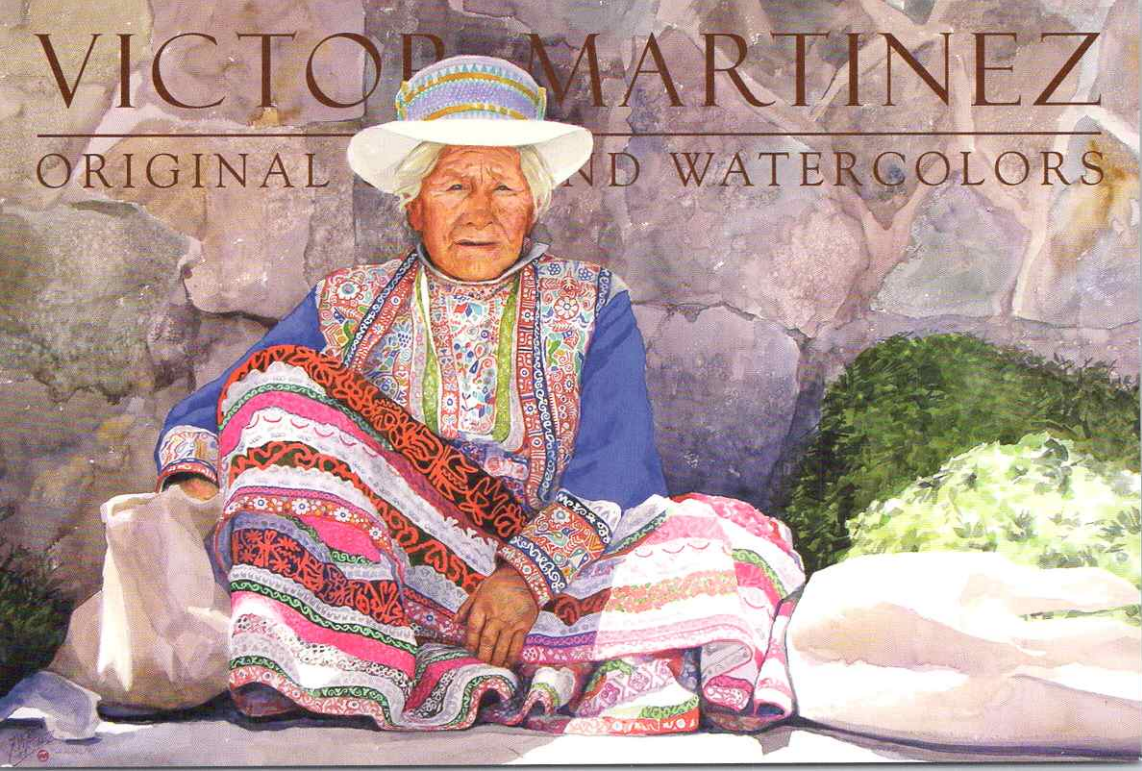

Colca - Peru 22" x 30" Watercolor

Cabanaconde - Peru 30" x 22" Watercolor

VICTOR MARTINEZ

ORIGINAL ND WATERCOLORS

VICTOR MARTINEZ

ORIGINAL OILS AND WATERCOLORS

"La Alfalfa," watercolor on paper, 29"×41"

Victor Martinez Watercolors
480-626-5598 | info@victormartinez.com